

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A heating unit has a cartridge that constitutes a single component, which can be readily removed and replaced with a new cartridge. The 5 cartridge is a plurality of non-flammable layers bound together in a border. The layers include a stainless steel mesh located above a layer of ceramic wool. With the cartridge, replacement can be accomplished in approximately fifty minutes compared to a downtime of a week or more previously.